

Attention to detail keeps Evolve's properties covered

ABOUT EVOLVE

Benjamin Hume started Evolve Block and Estate Management from a filing cabinet six years ago and in that time, he has built up a business with over 60 properties and 15 employees.

The award-winning company is based in the South, with a varied portfolio spread across Hampshire, Wiltshire and Dorset, working with multiple freehold clients, management companies, RTM companies and share of freehold management companies.

RELATIONSHIP WITH FLATGUARD

FlatGuard insures 10 Evolve properties - and this is soon to increase considerably. The two teams work very closely together to understand Evolve's unique sites - some of them with elevated levels of perceived risk - taking the time and using open and honest communications to find a solution for each aspect of the build.

“The previous Statement of Fact had existed for a while and never been questioned. But attention to detail is so important (and I know it is to FlatGuard too), which is why I like working with the team so much. I trust them to check and know everything. Looking through images, assessing the building and checking all details within the documents meant that we could ensure the building and all its tenants are now protected correctly.”

BENEFITS OF WORKING WITH FLATGUARD

The main benefit of working with the FlatGuard team is the thorough approach, according to Ben.

“You can never assume anything insurance. The FlatGuard team check and recheck everything. It reassures me that I can trust them completely, especially as this attention to detail is backed up by a level of expertise and knowledge that is second to none. It's a partnership but also a professional counsel that I rely on completely.”
